Dear [Title] [LastName],

It has come to my attention that, having not a shred of human decency, you do not deserve to receive any gifts this Christmas. In fact, you do not deserve even an ounce of the warmth and kindness that you have been afforded throughout your life. If I had a time machine, I would travel to the day of your conception and smack your mommy in her whore mouth and punch your daddy in his ding-a-ling.

I will be writing your friends to notify them that, if ever they wish to receive Christmas gifts again, they are to shun you and shun you hard.

You are an awful human being and everyone is ashamed of you.

Please accept the enclosed hunk of coal in lieu of a Christmas gift. It is more than you deserve, you heartless monster.

You make me sick.

Sincerely,

Santa the Claus

Dear [Title] [LastName],

I write in regards to an acquaintance of yours, one Ms. [VillainFirstName] P. [VillainLastName].

With regret, this letter is of a far more serious nature than those typically generated by this office during the yuletide. However, the importance of this matter necessitates desperate measures.

For her grievous offenses against the sensibilities of man and beast, I whole-heartedly implore that you now and forever henceforth shun Ms. [VillainLastName] and shun her hard.

She is a despicable creature, even within the context of her Polish upbringing, whose vile acts make naughty seem nice. I shan't endeavor to catalogue her transgressions herein, but trust that I have a broad body of experience in moral judgment and so repugnant have I found Ms. [VillainLastName] that I deem her deserving only of ire and loathing.

After the decades I have spent granting the whimsical requests of others, I hope that you will grant me this single demand. If you do not, you will never receive the _____ that I know you want so very much.

This is not a threat. This is a promise.

Ho ho ho,

Santa

Dear [Title] [LastName],

I regret to inform you that you will not be receiving the Pretty Pretty Princess Dress-Up Board Game® that you had so hoped for this Christmas.

After much consideration, I feel that the enclosed lump of coal is a much more deserved and appropriate gift based upon your actions throughout the year.

In the coming months, please keep in mind that I watch you when you're sleeping. I watch when you're awake and frankly, I am utterly disgusted by what I have seen. So, for goodness sake, please stop. You are an awful human being and everyone is ashamed of you.

Ho ho ho,

Santa

Dear [Title] [LastName],

I am writing to demand that you immediately cease and desist all letter writing and wish making with regards to Christmas gift desires.

No one here cares what you want for Christmas and you will no longer be receiving Christmas gifts from this or any affiliated office. Not after what you've done. You should be ashamed of yourself. We certainly are.

Please accept the enclosed hunk of coal in lieu of a Christmas gift. Perhaps you can use it to warm your cold, dead heart.

Sincerely,

Santa

Dear [Title] [LastName],

We are writing in response to a letter we recently received from you with regards to your desire for a gift of a(n) _____ for the 2013 gift-giving year.

We regret to inform you that Santa Claus is dead. Death came for him in his sleep but was so rough in the process that Santa woke to experience the entire, prolonged and painful ordeal, which he suffered alone as Mrs. Claus was out schtupping the reindeer. His deteriorating corpse was discovered some time later with an expression of abject terror frozen on its fat face.

Your letter has understandably reopened many emotional wounds amongst the fey folk of the north. We have included a hunk of coal, which symbolizes our distaste for you, and other selfish children of your ilk. We trust that you understand.

Our condolences. You really shouldn't be writing letters to Santa at your age, anyhow. Grow up, you sad sack.

Kind regards,

Dear Mr. Smolenski,

It is not every day that I feel so driven to write a letter of this nature to one of my constituents, but your many selfless and endearing acts during the 2013 gift-giving year have been an inspiration to me in these dark times.

You are a role model for all the other good, little girls and boys. Perhaps, in time, the rest of the world will come to adore and admire you as I do.

It is my greatest joy to watch you while you are sleeping.

I love you,

Santa the Claus

Dear [Title] [LastName],

Having compiled an extensive list and checked it twice, we have found that you rate 'nice' for the gift-giving year of 2013, but regret to inform you of the following:

You better watch out.
You better not cry.
You better not pout.
I'm telling you why:
Santa Claus is dead.

As such, there will be no Christmas gifts for you or any other good, little girls and boys this year or forever after.

While our gift-production capacity has understandably suffered greatly upon the death of our benefactor and we will be unable to provide you with your desired gift of a(n) _____. We do, however, have a surfeit of coal. We have included a hunk of such with our condolences.

Please feel free to continue leaving cookies and milk by the chimney each year. We will send someone to collect these annual offerings.

Kind regards,

Dear [Title] [LastName],

We regret to inform you that Santa Claus is a lie told children to get them to shut the fuck up with all their whywhywhy's. Thus, you will not be receiving anything for Christmas this year or any other year despite the kindness that you may or may not have exhibited to others. All of that effort has been a waste.

We really shouldn't have to be telling you this at your age. Grow up.

In lieu of a Christmas gift, we have included one (1) hunk of coal with our warmest regards.

Sincerely,

Randolf the Rude-Nosed Reindeer

Dear [Title] [LastName],

Having compiled an extensive list and checked it twice, I have found that you rate 'nice' for the gift-giving year of 2013. Though we customarily endeavor to provide children of your behavioral rating with gifts that they desire, this year you will be receiving only coal from this, or any affiliated, office.

I would like to remind you that I watch you while you are sleeping. I watch while you're awake. I would like to request that you make more entertaining life choices.

I am old and feeble and my primary form of entertainment is voyeurism.

Dance, child. Dance for me.

Always watching,

Santa

Dear [Title] [LastName],

I am writing to inform you that your behavior has been found lacking in regard to your treatment of others.

With luck, you have taken this lesson to heart and will learn to treat David P. Smolenski with the respect and adulation that he entirely deserves. Until then, you will receive nothing but coal.

Sincerely,

Santa
